AUDIT REPORT AWAITED

First Statement of New Administration Taken From Books
Before Auditors Make Report

The Bank of North Dakota is facing a deficit on the basis of its present condition, it is indicated by the report of the institution as it enters the new year. When the statement of the bank is made by auditors upon the basis of ordinary bank statements, with values checked and balanced, it is indicated that the deficit will be much larger than is now apparent from the statement of the bank's condition as of Dec. 31, 1921.

With "profits" listed in its books as $134,375.14 the bank also lists $74,325.00 advanced commission on real estate bonds which must be made up and $70,180.40 discount on bank series bonds to be amortized. These amounts are carried as resources, and it was proposed they be amortized in the course of the farm loan business of 30 years. They represent at this time an actual loss more than balancing the "profits" listed.

The first report of the bank since the new administration took office shows that there is $131,801.70 deposits in closed banks and $559,184.50 loans in closed banks. These amounts still are carried entirely as resources.

Does Not Change Method.

C. R. Green, manager of the bank, presents in his first statement the condition of the bank as shown by the books of his predecessor, F. W. Cuthbert. No attempt is made to change this method or to charge off amounts which in ordinary banking practice should be charged off pending completion of the Bishop-Brisman and Company examination. The statement is changed somewhat as to form and is given in more detail. With loss in the sale of bonds at below par, commissions paid and bad loans made, it is feared by state officials that the audit report will show an actual deficit far greater than any of the other state industries.

Following is a statement of the condition of the Bank of North Dakota as of close of business, Dec. 31, 1921.

APPROVE ROOT PLAN TO HOLD
SUB COMMANDERS WHO ATTACK
MERCHANTMEN TO BE PIRATES

Consideration of Submarine Question is Concluded By Powers With Adoption of This Root Proposal Declaring Against Attacks By Submarines on Merchant Ships

Washington, Jan. 6.—(By the Associated Press).—Consideration of submarine questions was concluded today by the five-powers naval committee with adoption of the final Root declaration declaring submarine commanders who with or without orders from their government violate the existing international law on submarine warfare to be guilty of piracy.

Washington, Jan. 6.—(By the Associated Press).—Agreed upon abolition as between themselves of all submarine warfare against merchant ships it remained for the five naval powers of the armament conference today to reinforce this declaration through adoption of the third Root proposal to declare violation of the rules laid down for submarines an act of piracy for which the submarine commander could be held personally accountable. Indication were that this proposal also would be adopted and the matter of submarine regulations finally disposed of at the naval committee meeting today.

Viewed everywhere as the most significant naval achievement of the conference since the capital ship agreement the declaration prohibiting the use of submarines against merchantmen was adopted in the committee late yesterday asks the adherence of all nations to the new principle of international law.

POLICE PROBE REPORT GRAVE IS OPENED, BODY DECAPITATED

Winona, Minn., Jan. 6.—Police today withheld a decision as to whether they would open the grave of Miss Francis Bloch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bloch, of this city, to ascertain if the body had been decapitated in a superstitious belief that such action would end a long series of deaths in the family following confession by Thomas Bloch admitting that he had opened the body. Bloch's statement came following the announced intention of the authorities last night that they would exhume the body as a result of a disclosure that the grave of the girl and one of her brothers had been tampered with during the last 10 days. Bloch is reported to have told the police that his object in opening the grave was to confirm certain

B. of N. D. IS INVOLVED

Fargo, Jan. 6.—Letters reported to show that the cash with which to finance the increase in capital stock of the Scandinavian-American bank at Fargo at the time it was first closed came from the bank of North Dakota through other banks outside of Fargo were introduced by the defense today in the trial of Frank C. Heaton, former teller of the bank charged with embezzlement.

The letters were taken from the file and were introduced in support of Heaton's claim that a long series of falsifications and irregularities preceded his arrest on a charge of embezzling $78,000.

The defense indicated today that it would rest its plea for Heaton's release on the ground that he had agreed to assume responsibility for the shortage as he had permitted his name to be used in certain alleged questionable transactions within the bank and that his assumption of responsibility had been under threat of prosecution in connection with the other deals. The defense also contended that Heaton had agreed to assume the responsibility under promise that the bank officials had sufficient influence with state officials to prevent any prosecution.

According to the contention of the defense today the money with which the Scandinavian-American bank increased its capital stock came from the Bank of North Dakota through the Peoples State Bank of Cassington and Prosper State Bank, the state institution loaning the money to these banks with the understanding that it would be loaned in turn to the Scandinavian-American bank.

"LOST" BASKETBALL TEAM AFTERMATH
OF UNPLEASANT ENDING AT WILTONBismarck High School Team Fails to Show up After Leaving For Home in Automobiles But is "Found"—Game Ends in a Row with Score 24 to 24 and Referee Awarding Game to Wilton

There were a lot of worried people in Bismarck today. Bismarck high school's basketball team was lost. The team played at Wilton last night, and two taxicabs were sent from here to bring the party back after the game. No word had been heard from them early this morning.

The taxicab company sent out a car, after the party could not be located by telephone to Wilton and had not reached Baldwin. During the morning word was received from a taxicab driver sent out on a hunt for the missing team that one of the automobiles was met a short distance this side of Wilton. The people in the car had remained all night in a friendly place. The other car was reported to have suffered a breakdown near Regan, and the players in this car were brought in later.

The version of the basketball game received from Wilton school officials was to the effect that Coach Swanish called the Bismarck team from the floor with five minutes to play and the score standing at 24 to 24. The game it was said, had been fast and furious up to that time. At the end of the first half the score was 13 to 7 in favor of Bismarck. The second half was a rough game, marked by hard and fast play.

The referee was A. M. Dahl, who Wilton people say is an experienced basketball player and referee. He awarded the game to Wilton, 2 to 0. The game marked the end of the long holiday trip of the local basketball team.

Edward Alfson, captain of the Bismarck team, said that the Wilton referee called about 20 or 25 fouls on Bismarck and a very few on Wilton players. He said that practically every move made by Bismarck in the latter part of the game was called a foul and because of the apparent unfairness Coach Swanish called his team from the floor. Another local player said the score was 24 to 23 in favor of Bismarck when the team was called from the floor.

Compensation Commissioner

PROTEST ON MIDDAGH

Several Nonpartisans holding high appointive offices have thus far failed to give any indication that they will resign to permit appointment of men who would be in harmony politically with the new administration. Governor Nestos on the other hand has been so engrossed with state matters that he has been unable to go thoroughly into the demands made for the removal of some of these officers.

Governor Nestos declared today "I shall not make any removal unless there appears to be adequate warrant in law and justice for such removal."

Within the last two days the governor has received several telegrams protesting against a reported removal of S. S. McDonald as a workmen's compensation bureau commissioner and reported appointment of D. C. Shipley to the position.

"This was the first intimation I had that any such thing was contemplated," said the governor in a letter to state labor officials. "It has never been considered by me, or as far I can recall has never been mentioned by me, and so far I have been too busy to look into the official record of Mr. McDonald to discover whether there is any warrant in law and in justice for removing him."

Several past presidents of the state firemen's association have called on Governor Nestos to remove R. A. Middaugh, fire marshal, alleging incompetency and the appointment of Henry L. Reade, former state fire marshal, to the place, it is understood.

When word reached the police station that a janitor had been killed, Detectives F. S. Buckley and W. A. Miller were detailed to visit places believed to be the rendezvous of lawless characters and a short time later they arrested a man said to have been Bodey. The prisoner went with the detectives without resistance and was not handcuffed or searched. When within a few feet of the police station he suddenly drew a heavy pistol and fired. Both officers were fatally wounded.

WAKINYAN WATAKPE. WHO IS HE?

Marshal Foch Was Given This Name By Red Tomahawk, Indian Chief

CEREMONIES EXPLAINED

Melvin R. Gilmore Gives Correct Interpretation of Name Bestowed on Great General

All the mystery of the Indian understanding of life, earth, water and sky entered into the ceremony in which the members of the Teton tribe of the Sioux named Marshal Foch and smoked with him the pipe of peace, according to Melvin R. Gilmore, curator of the North Dakota Historical Society. In the rush of completing the ceremony within the allotted few minutes, a wrong interpretation was placed upon the name bestowed by Red Tomahawk according to Mr. Gilmore, who had the Indian chief repeat the name after the ceremony, that he might be certain of having it correctly placed in his historical records. Marshal Foch is placed in the mythology of the Teton as a Changing Lightning, the words for thunder and lightning being almost the same.

Dr. Gilmore's historical statement of the event says in part:

"Marshal Foch was met by a delegation of Teton-Dakotas from the Standing Rock reservation of the Dakota nation. The leader of this delegation was Red Tomahawk, who ceremonially presented a pipe to Marshal Foch, and also conferred upon him a name in the Dakota nation. In his speech to the Marshal he said: 'My young man, when we sent you to France, the first time I ever heard of the great general, Marshal Foch, was at the time when you were young man to France. At that time I was a young man, and I should ever see the great general, but today I have the honor and the pleasure to see him, and I am glad. The young men of the French nation and young men of the Dakota nation fought together in the same cause against our common enemy, and some of both nations died together in that struggle and were buried in the same ground. Then he held up the pipe and said: 'Among my people, the Dakotas, it is our custom to offer the pipe and smoke together, so in like manner I give you this pipe as a token of friendship. Now the meaning of the pipe and its parts are these: the pipe-bowl is made from catlinite, a red stone which is found only in southwestern Minnesota. The stone in this use signifies firm and lasting friendship. The pipe-stem is of ashwood, and signifies that our friendship shall be durable and unbroken. The hollow of the pipestem through which we draw the smoke is straight, signifying that the words proceeding from our lips shall be just and true, and that our paths shall be straight. The colors of these ribbons upon the pipe-stem also have their meaning. The white signifies that all former differences are cleared away, and we shall be candid friends. The red ribbon is the color of blood, and signifies that we are all of one blood. Then Red Tomahawk held the pipe first to the North, then East, to South and to the West; then aloft to the sky, then downward to Mother Earth. This was a form of invocation to all the Divine Powers. He then lighted the pipe and drew upon it, and then offered the mouthpiece to the Marshal, who also drew upon it, and then to Maj. Welch. 'Red Tomahawk was obliged to abbreviate the ceremony because of the lack of time. He also abbreviated the explanations of the symbolism for the same reason. If time had permitted all should have been seated upon the ground.

"The material for smoking, with which the pipe was filled, was a mixture of tobacco and the inner bark of a native shrub, a species of Cornus stolonifera. Tobacco is invested with something of mystery and sacredness in the Indian thought, and was used ceremonially in the manner of incense. After delivering the pipe to Marshal Foch, Red Tomahawk declared his desire and purpose to confer upon the Marshal the honor of a name in the Dakota nation. Wakinyan Watakpe, this name with which Red Tomahawk invested the Marshal has a significance in connection with the historic message sent by the Marshal at the first battle of the Marne: 'The situation is excellent. I am attacking.' The meaning of the Dakota word Watakpe is 'to make an attack' 'to charge.' The meaning of the Dakota word Wakinyan is lightning. Therefore, the meaning of the name is 'lightning attack' or 'lightning-which-attacks'.

DEFLATION END NOT IN SIGHT, WILLARD HOLDS

Says it Will Take Years to Reach a New Permanent Price Level in Country

WAR CAUSE OF THE UPSET

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 6.—Several years will be required before deflation will have become complete and before the relative prices of farm products, compared to other commodities, are normal, in the opinion of Rex E. Willard, farm economist, North Dakota Experimental Station, who proposes regulation of production by the farmer as a means of hastening the adjustment. Conclusions reached by Mr. Willard from a study of price trends following wars in which the United States has been involved, follow:

"The adjustment following the world war is taking place much more rapidly than following the Civil War.

Since the world crop of wheat in 1921 was above normal by approximately 350,000,000 bushels, it would seem that the advisable thing would be the substitution of some other crop or forage for a part of the wheat acreage for 1922.

It is impossible for farmers to long continue with the present price ratios in effect, and none can change this condition so readily as the farmer himself in a concerted way, by regulating his production.

Since the corn in North Dakota is not produced for market purposes, its growing should be continued.

Potatoes have been one of the most profitable crops produced in this state, and their production should be urged.

Sweet clover and other forage crops suitable for livestock consumption seem opportune.

The relative price of dairy products has continued to be high, compared to other products, and therefore the time is opportune for extension of this enterprise.

"War Causes Upsets in Price Relationships." Mr. Willard says, "as indicated from records of three wars in the United States. The sudden and excessive demands for various products, especially food products, is largely responsible for this. During the war of 1812, prices advanced about 150 per cent; during the Civil War, prices advanced about 100 per cent; and during the World War, about 150 per cent.

"The fall of prices after the World War was much more rapid in the first three years than during the same period following the Civil War. It required 12 to 14 years to reach the normal price level following the Civil War, and the hopeful thing is that the period of deflation will be very much shorter at this time.

"Farm products in the case of every war have advanced in price more rapidly than any other products; while on the other hand, following the wars, farm products have gone down in price very much more rapidly than any other product. This was true following the War of 1812, following the Civil War, and following the late war. Of the various groups of products, manufactured or produced in the United States, farm products advanced more rapidly than cloths, clothing, etc.; but just following the close of the war, cloths and clothing, house furnishings, lumber, etc., exceeded the relative buying power of farm products. Since that time farm products have gone down until at present they are at approximately prewar level, and many other groups are still 100 per cent above normal.

"Farmers can control prices of their products only by producing in quantities sufficient only to supply the demand at a reasonable price."

CANNOT FORGIVE THEIR ENEMIES

Paris, Jan. 6.—People of the north of France whose territory was so long occupied by the enemy, have not forgotten or forgiven the Germans for their excesses in the war.

A war council at Lille has just passed a number of sentences against German officers and soldiers for crimes committed during the invasion. The condemned were not present to be tried, so that these sentences can only be put into effect if one of the guilty persons should be arrested in France.

General Muller was condemned to five years imprisonment and 500 francs fine for stealing objects of art and furniture at Caudey.

Other sentences imposed but hardly likely ever to be executed ranged from one year in prison for swindling to ten years in solitary confinement for brutality. 20 years at hard labor for violence causing death and hard labor for life for killing a Frenchman in cold blood.

QUICK ACTION IN OHIO COURT

Elyria, Ohio, Jan. 6.—Common pleas court here recently established what is believed to be a record for speed in a lawsuit.

From the time James George, in behalf of William James George, his son, filed a petition for $2,000 damages against the Richwine Ice Cream Co. for injuries sustained by the boy, when he was thrown into the wheel of the defendant's automobile while coasting, up to the time a check for $875, in judgment against the company was given, the total time elapsed was 28 minutes.

During this time, the ice cream company filed an answer, testimony was submitted, the case argued, the judge charged the jury, the jury returned its verdict, and a motion for a new trial was filed and overruled.

DECISION OF SUPREME COURT. W. A. Dexter (as executor), Appellant, vs. E. B. Lichtenwalter and Ruby Lichtenwalter, Respondent.

Syllabus: In an action to foreclose a real estate mortgage where it appeared that the land covered by it had been deeded by a father to his son with the understanding that the land was a gift; that the father had taken from the son and his wife the notes and mortgage in question for the purpose of preventing the grantees and mortgagees from losing their homestead through improvidence; that the mortgagee subsequently made a will reciting that he had advanced money or property to the mortgagor amounting, approximately, to $5000.00, there being no showing that the advancement consisted of money or property other than the land so mortgaged, and that the son, prior to the conveyance to him, had long been in possession of the land paying taxes but no rent.

It is held: (1) The notes and mortgage are not enforceable at the suit of the executor of the mortgagee.

Pet Dogs Taking Place of Babies

Berlin, Jan. 6.—Pet dogs have become so popular among the feminine population of Berlin that theater managers have been compelled to install rooms where the dogs may be checked. Some patrons complain that none of the theaters has made similar provision for checking babies, and think this is an unwarranted discrimination.

During the intermissions the women repair to the "dog room" and feed the animals with bits of sandwiches which it has become the custom for theater-goers to eat between the acts.

NO OLD WOMEN NOWADAYS. Modern dress, hair dressers, facial experts and cosmetics all combine to keep women of all ages young and attractive in appearance. Not until the telltale wrinkles become so deep, the figure stoops, or some ailment or weakness develops to drag a woman down does she really grow old.

Every woman owes it to herself and her family to keep her skin in good appearance, and happy when headaches, backache or the "blues" develop or when a woman reaches the trying age from forty to fifty, taking a Pinkettes Vegetable Compound may depend upon it whether her health is as good as many other women whose bodies are continually poisoning in this paper.

"PEACE TREATY" SIGNED BY CITY-STREET CAR CO.

Detroit to Have Most Extensive Municipally Owned Car System in the World

FOUGHT FOR 20 YEARS

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 6.—A "treaty of peace" between the city of Detroit and the Detroit United Railway, agreed to recently by plenipotentiaries of each, shortly will give Detroit the distinction of having the most extensive municipally owned street car system in the world.

Under the "treaty," signing of which marks the end of a 20 year war, the city proposes to take over soon the entire holdings of the company on a rental basis. At some time during 1922 the electors of the city will be called upon at a special election to vote on a question of purchase of the property by the city. As the people here have approved every municipal street railway project advanced in recent years, city officials expect the municipality will have the entire street car field here to itself before the beginning of 1923.

When the city assumes control its municipal street railway system will consist of 476 miles of trackage, putting it far ahead of San Francisco, its nearest rival in municipal street railway operation. The West Coast City's municipal system has but 60 miles of track.

Settlement of the street car controversy, the overshadowing element in every municipal election here within the last two decades, came suddenly the Detroit United agreeing to the rental proposition and proposed purchase after it was faced with eviction from two of the more important lines in the city.

After years of litigation, some of which found its way to the United States supreme court with resultant victories for the city, the municipality was authorized by the voters at a recent election to order the Detroit United Railway from parts of the Woodward avenue and Fort street lines upon which franchises had expired. This step followed refusal of the company to sell the lines to the city at a price the latter was willing to pay. (The company was going ahead with plans to tear up its tracks on these lines when an agreement was reached whereby city and Detroit United Railway cars might use jointly the places of tracks owned by one or the other. The rental agreement and purchase plan was made a part of this pact.

Since the agreement was signed Detroiters have been afforded the unusual sight of cooperation between the two rival street railway companies. Municipal cars are running over Detroit United cars are being operated over parts of the municipal lines.

Detroit's municipal lines came into being in 1920, when the voters approved a plan of Mayor James Couzens for construction of 100 miles of track. Work on the new line was started as soon as possible. Forty-five miles of the municipal system originally authorized now is under operation and many other miles of track is in process of building.

THANKS GOD HE IS U. S. CITIZEN

Omaha, Jan. 6.—Max Schroth, of Manila, P. I., traveled 8,000 miles to the United States in order to complete his American citizenship after he had labored for 21 years under the delusion that he was a citizen of the United States.

Born in Germany, Schroth came to this country and in 1898 enlisted in the United States army at Norfolk, Neb., serving in the Cuban campaign in the Spanish-American war and later in the Philippine insurrection. He had his first papers, and thought that his citizenship could not be questioned, only to learn that he would have to leave the Philippines where he was employed in the government transportation service, and return to America to obtain his final papers.

Schroth set out nearly a year ago, leaving a native wife and six children in Manila, and came to Nebraska where he took up residence in Omaha while his naturalization case was pending in district court. When his final papers were handed to him Schroth said:

"I feel like getting down on my knees and thanking God that I am now a bona fide American citizen."

SYRUP PEPSIN IN OLD AGE

Much used by elderly people for constipation, biliousness, headache, etc.

MANY men and women, as they grow older, suffer constantly from little ills. The cause is the poisons produced by chronic constipation, resulting in headaches, depression, bloating, sour stomach, bad breath, etc. A single bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will prove to you that you can so regulate your self that elimination will occur promptly every day. Increased doses are not necessary. It is a combination of Egyptian Senna and others simple laxative herbs with pepsin. The cost is only about a cent a dose.

In spite of the fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has been on the market 30 years and is today the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, the formula has never been improved upon. It is superior to any other laxative for you than salts, calomel, calomel, coal tar and such drastic purgatives.

Half-Ounce Bottle Free. Few escape constipation so easily as you do. You require a laxative at times. It is not a habit. It is a necessity. You need it. You want it. You have it handy when you need it. Write for a free bottle and address to Dr. Caldwell, P. O. Box 261, Bismarck, N. D.

PUNISHMENT FOR GERMAN PROFITEERS

Plundering and Rioting Have Also Got To Cease, Say Officials

Berlin, Jan. 6.—A united move by federal and state governments to wipe out speculation in necessities of life has begun. Police and government secret agents have gone into every city, town, village and virtually every farm house in a search for evidence against usurers.

Stringent measures have been adopted against a continuance of plundering and rioting, which, it has been ascertained, was instigated in some cases by "red" agitators for political purposes. Numerous arrests have been made, both of profiteers and looters.

An effort to induce workmen to strike and join in a crusade against "capitalism" promptly failed, even radical newspapers and labor leaders taking the position that "Germany would not tolerate introduction of Bolshevist methods at this time."

Recent investigations have disclosed that the boosting of prices and the great "selling out" campaign which came on the heels of the depreciation of the mark early in the winter was not entirely due to the hoarding of foreigners who invaded the country to make excessive purchases. The German profiteers bought out whole stores and removed the merchandise from the market, to await the increase in prices which was certain to follow. Some merchants hung out the sign "sold out," closed their stores and also waited.

Workmen, unemployed, and the poorer people were so angered by these methods that sporadic outbreaks occurred in many parts of Germany.

Lenine JOKES AMERICANS RE THEIR AFFAIRS

Riga, Jan. 6.—Nikolai Lenine, the Russian premier, likes not only to display his knowledge of American affairs but to joke American visitors about them, says Parley P. Christensen of Chicago, the Farmer-Labor party's candidate for president last year. Mr. Christensen had two interviews with Lenine while in Moscow for a month.

When the American entered Lenine's office in the Kremlin and started to identify himself, Lenine interrupted him. Christensen said: "Oh, I know about you. You and Mr. Cox were the 'also candidates.'"

Mr. Christensen, at Lenine's request posed with him for moving pictures in the street in front of the Kremlin, where a great crowd soon gathered.

"You don't seem to be a bit afraid of assassination," Mr. Christensen remarked.

"No, not a bit," Lenine replied. "One of the commissars who was with them jokingly explained that Lenine already has two bullets in him, adding: 'Trotzky says the old man has plenty of metal in his backbone anyway.'"

"Lenine," said Mr. Christensen, "seemed always in good humor. There was no evidence that he was depressed by the cares of the state."

CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE IS SUCCESS HERE THIS SEASON

Bismarck to Have School Nurse For Two Months as Result of Seal Sale

The Christmas Seal Sale is a drive that is managed throughout the United States by the tuberculosis association. It is the only drive that this association puts on during the year. It has been conducted at each Christmas season for 13 years for the purpose of securing funds to fight tuberculosis and other communicable diseases.

Of late years other organizations have held their drives at the same time of the year. Though the calls have been many and the times hard the tuberculosis seal sale amounted to about the same as last year and the committee have reported funds to the amount of $800.

Splendid Program Feature of Club Meeting Yesterday

The Thursday Musical club met with Mrs. E. H. L. Vesperman at her home at three o'clock yesterday afternoon. Sixteen members of the club attended the meeting.

A very interesting program, under the leadership of Mrs. Tracy, was given. A lesson on Oriental music, consisting of questions and answers, was conducted by Mrs. McGraw. Mrs. Tracy read a paper on the life and work of the Persian poet, Omar Khayyam.

The musical numbers were taken from Liza Lehman "In a Persian Garden" with the musical setting of Omar Khayyam's famous poem the Rubaiyat. Following is the program given:

Quartet—"Come Fill the Cup in the Fire of Spring." Mesdames Graham, Scheffer, Messrs. Halverson, Humphreys.

Duet—"A Book of Verses Underneath the Beach." Mrs. Graham, Mr. Halverson.

Bass solo—"Myself When Young Did Eagerly Frequent" Mr. Humphreys.

Soprano solo—"I Sent My Soul Through the Invisible." Mrs. Graham, Contralto solo—"The Worldly Hopes Men Set Their Hearts Upon." Mrs. Scheffer.

Tenor solo—"Ah, Moon of My Delight That Knows No Wane." Mr. Halverson.

Quartet—"Alas, That Spring Should Vanish With the Rose." Each member of this beautiful production was given a perfect interpretation and a perfect finish. The accompaniments were proficiently and effectively played by Mrs. Rose, adding much to the success of the production. Refreshments were served at the close of the program.

Clifford's Skating Rink is open, 10c in the afternoon and evening. Free on Sunday.

"The Rosary" to Be Given Here

Joseph Golden of Grand Rapids, Michigan has been in Bismarck the past week rehearsing the comedy drama, "The Rosary," which is to be put on for the benefit of the new St. Mary's school. The play will be presented at the auditorium the middle of January.

It is said that "The Rosary" is a play of great human appeal and has been one of the most popular plays of the stage. It is not a religious play but is an interesting comedy drama of American life telling a real heart story blended with plenty of good clean comedy. In fact the comedy is one of the strong features of the play.

In this day of sex problem plays and questionable comedies "The Rosary" comes as a welcome relief. One can enjoy the dramatic scenes without blushing and laugh heartily at the wholesale comedy without being ashamed of what he is laughing at.

Joseph M. Golden, the well known actor and director has been here the past week rehearsing the play. Mr. Golden will appear in one of the principal roles. A strong local cast has been secured and rehearsals are progressing rapidly. Mr. Golden is very much pleased with the high grade of local talent furnished him, and promises a show equal to reputable road attractions.

BEETS Sister Mary Tells How to Cook 'Em

If fuel is an item, the housekeeper who would keep her gas bill down had best cook beets in a fireless cooker. But the woman who burns cheap gas or coal will find beets an economical and delicious vegetable. Beets are a happy choice with fish or fowl especially but may be served with any meat.

Never cut the tops of beets too close to the root. Leave at least an inch of stems. Pull off any network of roots that cover the bulb-like root, but do not cut the straight, tap root.

Dinner Beets.

Wash beets and boil about two hours. Plunge in cold water and slip the skins. Cut in neat dice or in balls with a vegetable cutter. Sprinkle with salt, pepper, granulated sugar and dot with butter. Lift and stir with a fork to distribute the seasoning evenly through the beets. For three cups of diced beets allow 1 tablespoon butter, 1½ teaspoon salt, 1 dessertspoon sugar, 1-8 teaspoon pepper.

Pickled Beets.

Wash and boil beets till tender. Plunge in cold water and slip skins. Cut in slices about 1-4 inch thick. Put in a layer in a crock, or deep dish, sprinkle lightly with salt. Continue slicing and salting until all the beets are used. Heat 2 cups vinegar with 1-2 cup granulated sugar to the boiling point but do not let boil. Pour over beets and let stand over night. There should be more than enough vinegar to cover beets. Drain from vinegar to serve.

Beets in Orange Sauce.

Wash beets and cook in boiling water till tender. Drain and save 1-4 cup of water to which the beets were boiled. Make a sauce, and pour over beets cut in tiny balls with a vegetable cutter.

Sauce: 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1-4 cup beet water, 1-2 teaspoon grated rind of orange, 1-2 cup orange juice, 1-4 cup cream, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper.

Melt butter, stir in flour and add beet water. Add grated orange rind, orange juice, cream, salt and pepper. Cook, stirring constantly till thick and smooth.

Beets may be prepared the same as

CONSTRUCTIVE CRITICISM
In another column, The Tribune is publishing a letter criticizing the administration of the farm loan department. It is from a prominent Non-partisan and from her standpoint contains a valid criticism. The Tribune, however, disagrees with the conclusions of the letter although it believes the other side of the controversy should have ample opportunity to air their views.

Mr. DeNault necessarily must examine and carefully check up the work of the previous administration before taking on new business. The Bank of North Dakota was the storm center of the campaign. In fairness to all applicants for loans if a large number of applications were rejected without cause, all of them should be. The opportunity to renew requests for loans is still open and adherents of the League or the I. V. A. are or should be upon the same footing.

Loans should not be made along the lines of political preference. While it is too early to say what the policy of the farm loan department will be, there is Mr. DeNault's word for it that loans will be made regularly and in keeping with safety and sound judgment. If pre-election pledges and post-election promises are kept, the loan department will be run impartially.

It is too early to weigh the new administration. None of the departments is under full sail. The officials are new on the job and must be given time. Every fair minded citizen should hold in abeyance his conclusions until fortified by actual facts.

Under the pressure of political consideration, this administration is going to make mistakes—mistakes common to our system of government—but if the sum total of good outweighs the bad, state officials should be given the benefit of fair, constructive criticism. The Tribune has been impressed with the manner in which Mr. DeNault has taken hold of the hard task allotted him. Conducting a state owned and politically controlled enterprise is a hard task and if the truth were known Mr. DeNault has many times wished himself back in his own private ventures where nothing but business principles obtain and no political exigencies enter into the issues before him.

Probably before another primary rolls around, little will be accomplished other than a survey of the condition of North Dakota's finances. When that is known, the voters functioning in their respective parties will decide whether they want to shoot more money to the birds in carrying on the socialistic ventures which the present administration has fallen heir to.

Both Mr. Green and Mr. DeNault are treading cautiously through the uncharted paths of state banking such as is provided in the unique and hybrid act creating the Bank of North Dakota. If they make mistakes many of them must be credited to the system of state ownership, vicious in the extreme, and not to the men who are trying to make bricks without straw.

GOLD
Poreupine, Canada, one of the world's richest mineral districts, is taking $19,000,000 worth of gold out of its mines yearly. To get that gold, it has to break up 2,066,400 tons of ore.
That makes the ore yield about $9.50 a ton. Would you pulverize a ton of quartz for that? The romance of gold mining is mostly in machinery.

RELIABLE
The oldest oil well in the world is at McClintockville, Pa. It began producing 200 barrels a day. Sixty-one years have passed but this well still is producing oil in paying quantities.
Some people are a lot like this Old Reliable well. Others make a furor—big production at first, then die out and are useless. Better a reliable plodder than a "flash in the pan."

CLEANERS
At Gatesville, Texas, commotion started over alleged brutalities to the 950 inmates of the State Training School for Boys. One of the brutalities is said to have caused a death. The storm centered on C. E. King, superintendent of the school. He stuck by his guns, refused to resign. The state board of control voted to sustain him.
The women got after King. His dismissal was demanded by the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs. He quit.
The man who thinks that women are not going to houseclean the country before they get through with it, has another guess coming. Their ballots in public life are going to be just as clean-sweeping as their brooms in the home.

HARDING
A gentleman with an adding machine brain figures out that it costs the American people less than 1 cent each to pay President Harding's salary and total expenses for a year.
Congress costs 18 times as much.
This is a small amount for the men who serve as general manager and board of directors for that greatest corporation, United States government, whose assets are about $220,000,000,000.
You and I are the stockholders. We never get dividends, usually being levied on for deficits.

DISSATISFIED
The driest place in the world is Payta, Peru. It expects no rain until at least 1923. If it rains oftener than once in two years down there, the natives get scared. Last February it had its first shower since 1913.

Despite the dry climate, seven different kinds of plant life manage to exist around Payta. Life, the greatest mystery, is remarkable for two things:
FIRST: Its stubborn and tenacious fight against death.
SECOND: Its power to adapt itself to almost any kind of environment.

INDIANS
The red Indian probably will make his last stand in Canada, which reports an Indian population of 106,000. They are farming 221,800 acres of land, and their average wealth ranges as high as $2217 in the province of Alberta.
Not all of them are farmers. The fur coat you are wearing may have been trapped in the four-legged state by a Canadian Indian.
It is less than two centuries since the Indians were masters of the American continent. The white man has exterminated them at a rate almost without precedent in history.

Will the white man be a curiosity 200 years hence, like the Indian in 1921? Ask the Orient.

CONFUSION
Much argument has been stirred up over the girl at Janesville, Wisconsin, who smells colors and hears by the sense of touch.
Such a case is known to science as "confusion of the senses." Some have it in the form of seeing vivid colors when certain notes are struck on piano or violin.

The late Dr. Camden M. Coburn, of Allegheny College, used to tell his pupils of a boy he met whose sense of sight had been transferred to his fingertips. The boy could stick a finger through a knothole in a fence and watch a baseball game. Sounds impossible, but science has greater wonders than that.

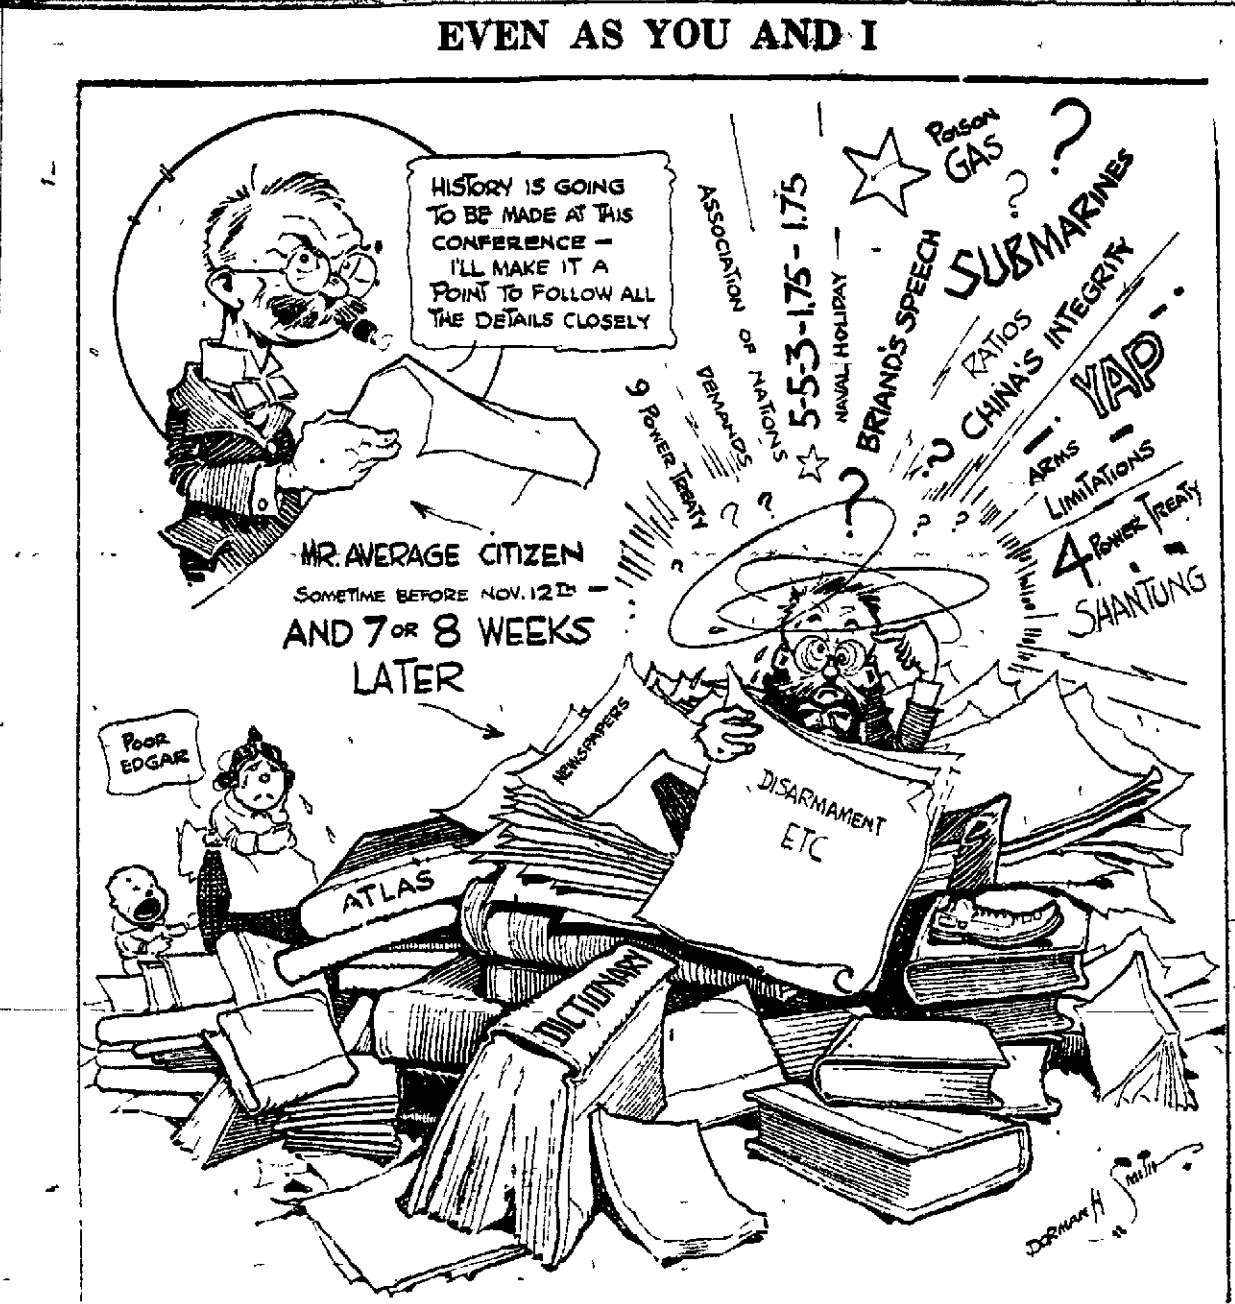

DEPRESSION
Only about a seventh of all commodities produced by American farms and factories is shipped abroad. Or put it this way—foreign trade makes up 15 per cent of our total commerce.
The difference between boom times and hard times, however, is only about 15 per cent.

The figures match. Without foreign trade, business depression would be perpetual, or until we adjusted ourselves to consume everything we produce.

The real trouble right now is in our home markets, not in export markets.

GOV. SPROUL'S DILEMMA
The message of Governor Sproul will be taken in his course with respect to the vacancy created by the death of Senator Penrose. Under Pennsylvania law successive terms as governor are prohibited and it was the common expectation that Sproul would be a candidate for the Senate, but his residence in the eastern part of the state makes him eligible only to the Penrose succession under the unwritten law that the senatorships must be divided between the eastern and western sections. When Senator Knox died, Governor Sproul appointed Senator Crow in the common and rather cold-blooded understanding that his failing health would preclude the possibility of becoming a candidate next fall even if it permitted him to take his seat in the Senate. Now that death has made another vacancy, what will Sproul do? It is conceded that he will either appoint as successor to Penrose a man who will agree to leave the field open next fall, or will resign with an understanding that he is to be appointed senator by Lieutenant Governor Heideman.
Governor Sproul is regarded universally as an able man and politically upright; but he lives in a state essentially political. Either course suggested above involves a political deal. In one, Sproul deals with his appointee and in the other with his own successor as governor. It is rather embarrassing for him and as we say his political and personal stature will be measured by what he does in filling the Penrose vacancy. Doubtful political means are sanctioned, according to political expediency, by the ends; but bargains are likely to detract from the high esteem in which a respected official is held. The Pennsylvania idea may not be popular nationally.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

PEOPLE'S FORUM

FROM A NONPARTISAN
Jameson, Jan. 4, 1922
Editor Bismarck Tribune:

We are reading with great interest the report of work being done by the new state officials and their helpers and an account from the loan department in your issue of the 30th of last month has aroused my interest and curiosity. (Woman is ever curious you know)

I had an idea that Mr. DeNault headed a loan department and that there were hundreds of farmers waiting for money with which to save foreclosure proceedings and permit them to go forward with their farming operations another year.
Now, after two months' occupation of the office, he seemingly has turned the department into an examination bureau and has not loaned a dollar and has cancelled all present chances of loaning one.

Whom is Mr. DeNault serving? I read that he found the department badly disorganized, with only two clerks. How many are there now and where does their pay come from? Is the department adding to the tax burden of the state, without accomplishing what the law specifically intended? What about the constitution in such a case?

However, we are glad to note that the two months' work is not altogether thrown away. He claims to have worked out an amortization plan all by himself. I heard of a garage which claimed to fix all autos in regular turn as they came in. One day a Hummobile came in with a break which necessitated sending to the factory for a piece. An hour afterward a Ford came in needing a repair which they kept stock, but the proprietor was able to fix the Ford until after the other car was repaired.

Following along this line of thought we may imagine a scene in the office of the loan department:

Clerk—"Chief, here is an application from Ward county for a loan. The abstract and tax receipt accompanies it. The land is unencumbered. We have a man in Ward county now. Shall we have him look at this land?"

Chief—"Land alive, No! There are 25 applications ahead of that fellow. Our man must go to Hettinger and La-Moure counties before he can attend to that man's land."

Oh, well! Never mind. To be consistent, no I. V. A. official, clerk, politician, nor any relative or friend of any I. V. A. official, clerk or politician will ask for a loan, and it seems to be a high kind of misdemeanor for a Nonpartisan to have one, so there won't be much loaning done anyway.

I dare say the bonds sold will well cover all.

(A Review by A. McG. Beede)
The book called Main Street, by Sinclair Lewis, had its 18th edition within six months. One who has not read the book is not up-to-date in the self-proclaimed literary circles.

It is a cartoon in literature—in a book.

Its chief aim and purpose is the immortal Main Street aim, to sell well. The book tells in clever jazz melody of things that countless persons have observed, and the thought is as-you-like-it, so the book is read by many classes of people.

The Main Street and the Town described are the same things that have been since long before Jerusalem—and will be until Gabriel blows the horn.
If—if the book had Mark Twain's philosophic humor and his keen eye for nature in the concrete, it might be permanent in literature. But the author's borrowed-from-books knowledge of nature gives the stereotyped landscape scenes, and even speaks of Lutteridge and Pasque Flowers appearing at the same time.
The heroine, Mrs. Doctor Kennicott, is the typical spoiled baby, a bookish-up college girl, with ambitions to yank Main Street and the Town into a book-made New Jerusalem. At one jerk, and she flabbily hold the illusion that she is so adorable that even if she flabbily takes a room separate from her husband he will adore her still, and will be in no danger of being attracted elsewhere. She worships no God, not because she is particularly heretic,

DERELICTS

A worn out ship lies on her side,
Down by the ocean's pier;
But she was once the Captain's pride,
And many a voyage she did ride,
Before she found her bier.

A gray, old man limps down the street,
He was a soldier brave;
And many a story he can spin,
About the battles he was in,
Sweet Freedom's cause to save.

And, shall we call them derelicts,
The brave man, and the noble ship,
Because they have grown old?
Nay, rather call them privateers,
Who sailed down the Sea of Years,
While blue skies turned to gold.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barto Roberts

The next place that Buskins took the Twins to in the magic apple tree elevator was the Land of Lost Kites. Nick moved the funny old iron brake fastened to the side of the little rickety wooden car when Buskins told him and up they shot still higher above the hills, trees and valleys, right into the blue, blue sky.
At last they stopped and Buskins said, "Here we are!" I hope we're in time for the trial." And he looked at his watch.
"Trial!" exclaimed Nick. "What's that?"
"It's when something is to be decided," answered the fairyman. "And the thing to be decided is usually whose fault something is."
"But land alive! That's too hard for you to understand. Come along and I'll tell you what I mean."
The Fairy Queen is to be here to do the deciding. It's all about the kites who come here. They are always quarreling and always in trouble.
They started down a remarkable road with fields of lovely green on each side.
Here and there were houses where the kite people lived, who had come to make their home in this beautiful sky country.
And trees! There were oodles of trees, my dears, for where else would tired kites stay.
After a while they arrived at a village and it was plain to see from the crowd of kites that something unusual was going on.
Buskins and the Twins made their way to the courthouse and here the crowd was thickest of all. They never would have got through had Buskins not handed a policeman-kite a card from the Fairy Queen.
Instantly the policeman-kite made a path, and the visitors went up the steps and in through the door.
There they could see the Fairy Queen herself sitting in state.
Before her were two disheveled kites who looked as if they had been fighting.

MANDAN NOTES

Novel Carnival Being Planned

A "Kow Carnival" and general good time for the men interested in dairy "bug" suggested at the regular bi-monthly banquet of the Mandan Town Criers club held at the Lewis & Clark private dining room Wednesday night met with such unanimous approval that arrangements are now being made for the unique event.

All of the members of the Mandan, Flasher, New Salem and proposed Glen Ullin Holstein Breeders circuits will be the special guests of the Town Criers club at the "Kow Carnival." The event probably will be staged the latter part of this month or early in February.

The main purpose is to get the various men who are changing this country from an unprofitable wheat growing area to a profit making dairy district into one common meeting to become better acquainted, and incidentally to become better acquainted with the Town Criers and city men who are willing and anxious to back up the dairymen in every way within their power.

Mandan Couple Married Wednesday

Miss Rosella Hendrickson of Mandan, and Joseph Olson were united in marriage at the Lutheran parsonage Wednesday evening by Rev. C. J. Fylin. Following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served the bridal party and a few intimate friends by Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Peterson at their home on 8th avenue N. W.

The bride has made her home in Mandan for several years with Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Peterson. The groom is a former resident of Almont but for several years past has resided in California. Mr. and Mrs. Olson left last night for California where they will make their home.

City Commission Plans Improvements

Members of the board of city commissioners at the regular meeting held Wednesday evening unanimously voted to advertise for bids on combination hose, chemical and booster pump fire trucks mounted on various makes of motor chassis.

The bids will be received and opened on January 25 and it will not be until that time that the various offerings of different companies will be investigated and a decision made on the type of equipment desired.

The commission also considered the problem of co-operating with the Northern Pacific Railroad company toward the end of eliminating the menace to public safety in the east end crossing of the railroad tracks.

Needed repairs to the city hall and complete remodeling of the present building was also discussed at length and it is probable that definite steps will be taken later in the spring.

Gasoline Taken From Oil Agency

City and county officials have been unable to find any clues which might lead to the apprehension of thieves who raided the gasoline tanks of the Northwestern Oil Co. plant on East Main street.

According to W. E. Dopking, manager of the oil agency, thieves pried open the front door to the gasoline shed and drew off 180 gallons of gasoline, taking it away in several cans, drums and other containers which were also stolen. The total loss is estimated by Mr. Dopking at about $75.

Mrs. Oscar Olson entertained a company of eighteen at a miscellaneous shower after home Wednesday afternoon for Mrs. Joseph Olson. Mrs. Olson was Miss Rosella Hendrickson and her marriage took place Wednesday evening.

Robert Cummings, who has been spending the holidays at his home, has returned to St. Thomas College, St. Paul.

Attorney P. D. Norton returned on Wednesday from Minneapolis, Minn., Sioux Falls, S. D., and Fargo, N. D., where he has been on a business trip.

T. P. Heister and family of Forsyth, Mont., former residents of Mandan, arrived in the city and will spend the winter here.

Mrs. R. A. Young has returned from Hastings, N. D., where she spent the holidays at the home of her parents.

Mrs. H. G. Taylor and daughter Mae, have returned from a week's visit with relatives at Minneapolis.

Mrs. George Schafer and son left yesterday morning for a visit with friends and relatives at Glen Ullin.

for church institutions, are endangered if the trust company is made administrator. Louis W. Hill's affidavit asserts:

He also declares that James N. Hill, of New York, eldest son, who has large railroad and other property holdings, has started a lawsuit in an attempt to set aside the gift of North Oaks Farm and $738,000 worth of bonds made to him by his mother. This would necessitate proving his mother incapable of making the transactions during the winter of 1919-1920. It was at this period that Mrs. Hill made trusts and gifts to many church organizations, and to provide her incapable of sound action then would be to imperil these beneficiaries. Louis Hill charges.

(Calls Trust Company "Tool.")

He would not have objected to the naming of the trust company as administrator had not the opposing heirs gained control of it recently for the express purpose of using it as their "tool" to invalidate these gifts, Mr. Hill asserts.

Affidavits objecting to the appointment of Louis W. Hill charge that he gained possession improperly of North Oaks Farm, the so-called "million dollar" country estate founded by the "Empire Builder," eight miles north of St. Paul, and the railroad bonds. North Oaks is valued by Mr. Hill at $232,000, its appraised value.

The other heirs also assert that Louis W. Hill obtained and attempted to retain control of their shares of Burlington railroad stock and only returned it when threatened with a lawsuit. A letter from Louis W. Hill, noted in one of the affidavits making this charge, states that he desired temporary control because it was in the interests of all the heirs, the uncertainty of the railroad situation then being such that ultimate disposal of this stock was problematical.

Several of his sisters and brothers are emphatic in voicing their opposition to Louis W. Hill as administrator, one asserting that he has long been antagonistic to the other heirs. Affidavits asking the appointment of the Northwestern Trust company also complain of alleged acts by him in his administration of his father's $50,000,000 estate. It being contended that he obtained $150,000 administrator fees when he "agreed" to act without any compensation. They state, however, that they agreed to his receiving $100,000 and one of the opposing affidavits carries a statement of expenses showing that he did receive $100,000.

Selfish Motives Charged.

The heirs opposed to Louis are James N. Hill, Walter J. Hill, Mrs. Ruth Beard and Mrs. Gertrude Gavin, all of New York, and Mrs. Clara Lindley of St. Paul, Mrs. Charlotte Slade of White Bear and Mrs. Rachael Boeckmann of St. Paul.

An affidavit quotes a letter signed by all the heirs except himself and Mrs. Mary H. Hill, wife of Samuel Hill of Washington, directing President George P. Flannery of the trust company, in which all the heirs are shareholders, to call a meeting to oust Cyrus P. Brown, Jr., vice president, and John T. Toomey, secretary to the Hill heirs, from the directorate and elect as directors E. C. Lindley, and James N. Hill. Mr. Lindley, a son-in-law, is vice president and general counsel of the Great Northern railroad.

The ousting of Vice President E. P. Davis and C. P. Brown, Sr., president of the First National bank, and the election of Walter J. Hill and Dr. Egil Boeckmann, a son-in-law, also was suggested.

Law Limits Director Changes

The letter which opens: "We, the undersigned, owners of the Northwestern Trust company," ask that a special meeting be called for the purpose of making the suggested changes in the board of directors. The letter also adds that at the annual meeting the seven heirs may consider enlarging the board and either replacing some of the directors or adding other names to the board.

Louis W. Hill, in his affidavit respecting this move, avers that "the purposes" referred to in the letter did not in any way relate to or concern the business, welfare or good management of the company, but did relate to and were concerned with their purposes in respect to this estate and the conduct of the administration thereof.

He asserts that thereafter the directors discovered that under the law no more than two of the proposed removals from or appointments to the board of directors could be made in the manner proposed in the letter and on November 30 of the petitioners as were in Minnesota sent a letter to Mr. Flannery suggesting that only two changes be made.

Quotes "Confidential" Letter

This letter, which Louis W. Hill quotes in full is marked "confidential" and is signed by his sisters, Mrs. Gertrude Gavin, Mrs. Rachael Boeckmann, Mrs. Charlotte Slade and Mrs. Clara Lindley. This letter suggests that J. N. Hill be elected a director in place of J. J. Toomey and that E. C. Lindley be elected in place of either Cyrus P. Brown, Jr., or Cyrus P. Brown, Sr., president of the First National bank.

Mr. Hill avers that at the meeting, held immediately after the letter quoted from was written, Mr. Brown, Sr., and Mr. Toomey were replaced with J. N. Hill and E. C. Lindley, and avers that it is the plan of the petitioners at the earliest date possible under the law to remove C. P. Brown, Jr., and E. P. Davis, and name in their places Dr. Egil Boeckmann and Walter J. Hill.

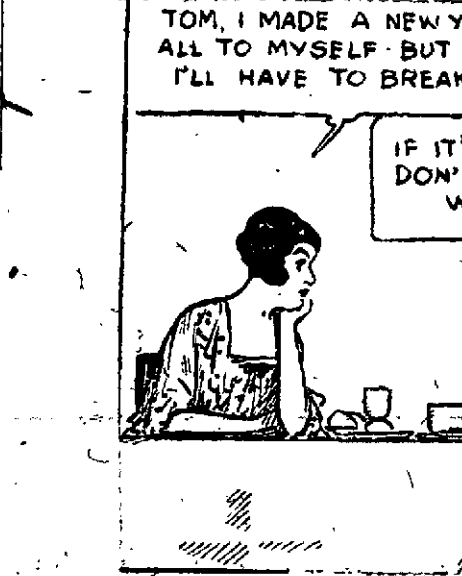

"It is the purpose of said petitioners to have their family will control the said trust company, its board of directors and officers during the time required for the administration of the estate of Mary T. Hill, and to carry out the aforesaid purpose of said James N. Hill, Walter J. Hill, and the other petitioners ask for the appointment of said trust company, who may join with them to attack the grants and gifts made or attempted to be made by said Mary T. Hill during the last two years of her life, that, so dominated and controlled, the said trust company is in fact and in legal effect the instrument of said petitioners, each of whom will secure for himself or herself one-ninth of whatever property so granted and given, or attempted to be granted and given by Mrs. Mary T. Hill.

"OVER THE HILL" MOST POWERFUL OF ALL MODERN MOTION PICTURE DRAMAS

One of the great epoch-making photoplays of many years is the beautiful William Fox photo drama of mother-love entitled "Over the Hill," which will be seen at the Litaio commencing Monday.

Founded upon the famous poem by Will Carleton, this simple story of the devotion of a mother for her children in spite of the trials and tribulations to which they subject her, is one of the most appealing and lovable stories ever screened. Staged under the direction of Harry Milarde, it has reached for its great strength with the public upon the simple theme and plain story of a mother and her family whom she carefully rears and protects.

There is no suggestion of big massive scenes, no spectacular effects, no crowds—nothing but the simple, thrilling and powerful story that touches the heart of all humanity and brings everyone to realize the love and affection with which a mother's memory should always be revered.

Produced in New York by William Fox in September of 1920, without ostentation, without undue exploitation, without any furor or newspaper fire works, the theme of the simple and beautiful picture "Over the Hill" spread like wildfire. All who saw it sent hundreds of their friends. Newspapers hailed it as one of the great and crowning artistic triumphs of the motion picture world. Clergymen preached sermons about it. Editors wrote editorials advising every mother's son and daughter to see "Over the Hill." The result of this word-of-mouth advertising was to send such crowds to see "Over the Hill" that William Fox repeatedly extended the engagement, leasing one theater after another and moving "Over the Hill" continuously until it was finally presented at six different theaters on Broadway. It must be remembered also that "Over the Hill" was presented in leading first class Broadway theaters, at the top scale of $2.00 for the best seats, and for many weeks this single attraction playing daily matinees drew the remarkable gross business of more than $22,000 per week. These figures are absolutely accurate and have been the marvel of all who have been familiar with the presentation of feature pictures on Broadway.

Garage Man Tells The Normal Way To Recharge Batteries

"As long as the car owner was very careful to have the carbon removed from the engine cylinders, the valves ground and the carburetor adjusted, and then apply the so-called econobattery experts know the harmful effect of such treatment.

"The surprising thing is the willingness of many people to pay $3 to $5 for a single application of these dopes when most storage battery service stations would do the same thing for 25 cents.

"There is nothing mysterious about pouring strong acid solution into a discharged battery and having it operate in 20 or 30 minutes afterward,"
